

Our Privacy Policy

Kimberly Meurillon, LCMHC, PLLC is committed to protecting your privacy and created this policy to explain why we collect certain information about you when you use this website, and how we protect the privacy of that information. This Policy does not apply to your personal health information. Please refer to the Therapy Consent, Policies, & Agreement in the client portal for information about use and disclosure of personal health information and the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (“HIPAA”).

Information we collect and how we use it.

We collect two types of information from our website:

1. Individually identifiable information you provide to us.

We will not disclose, sell or rent your name or any personal information about you to any third party. You do not need to give personal information to receive information from this site. There are instances online, however, when Kimberly Meurillon, LCMHC, PLLC requests individually identifiable information from you. We may retain this information for processing and to facilitate requests.

2. Aggregate information.

We use the aggregate information we collect to measure the number of visitors to the different pages and sections of our site, and to help us make our site more useful to visitors. The aggregate information we collect is not linked to personal information, and we do not report on individual user sessions. Only unidentifiable, aggregate data is shared with outside resources.

E-mail inquiries

Our website contains e-mail links that allow you to easily send an e-mail inquiry to Kimberly Meurillon, LCMHC, PLLC. When you use the e-mail links, your e-mail address, your phone number and the subject of your inquiry are provided to the intended recipient to respond to your specific request only. To further assure protection of your privacy, we respond to requests via telephone only.

Cookies

In order to improve our site on an ongoing basis, we use cookies to track your visit. Kimberly Meurillon, LCMHC, PLLC also may use cookies to provide users with certain features available on our website. A cookie is a small amount of transferred to your browser by a web server and can data that is only be read by the website that gave it to you. It functions as your identification card. It is not a program and cannot be executed as code or deliver viruses. Most browsers are initially set to accept cookies. You can set your browser to notify you when you receive a cookie; this gives you the chance to decide whether to accept it. You can use this website without cookies, but you may have to re-enter information each time you visit.

Links to Other Sites and Services

Kimberly Meurillon, LCMHC, PLLC is not responsible for the contents of any linked website, any link contained in a linked website or any changes or updates to such websites. We encourage you to read the privacy statements of each and every website that requests personal information from you.

Security

We are committed to ensuring that your information is secure. In order to prevent unauthorized access or disclosure, we have put in place suitable physical, electronic and managerial procedures to safeguard and secure the information we collect online.

Effect of Policy

By visiting Kimberly Meurillon, LCMHC, PLLC online, you are accepting the practices described in this Privacy Policy. Despite the measures described in this Policy, the confidentiality of any communication or material transmitted to or from us via this web page or the internet cannot be guaranteed. Kimberly Meurillon, LCMHC, PLLC reserves the right to change this Privacy Policy at any time. Our policy will be kept up to date and posted on our website.